

Jenna Bollinger: Consultant & Trainer (Therapeutic Care & Assessments), Australia

Brief Bio: Jenna has a PhD from Monash University, which investigated the experience of and capacity for stability in residential out-of-home care. She has worked in out-of-home care in different capacities since 2012 and is currently the Director of Psychology and Clinical Services for Knightlamp, which consults on the assessment and implementation of therapeutic programs in out-of-home care across Australia. Jenna also conducts a variety of assessments, including therapeutic assessments for out-of-home care, forensic assessments, and parenting capacity assessments in the context of the child protection system.

Twitter @JennaBollinger1

www.knightlamp.org